

State of

Connecticut

By Her Excellency M. Jodi Rell, Governor: an

Official Statement

WHEREAS, today we join the Southern New England Chapter of the Project Management Institute and other professional societies in recognizing the contributions project managers have made in the worlds of business, government and community service; and

WHEREAS, project managers worldwide continuously work to improve our quality of life by enhancing services and products, building new communities, restoring environments affected by natural disasters and supporting the economy; and

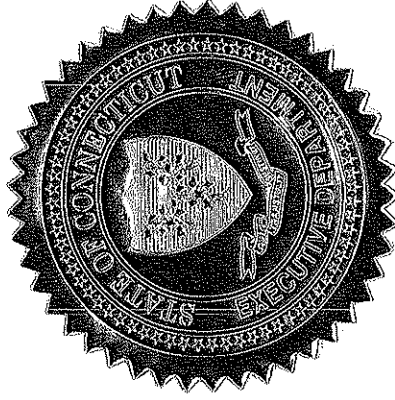

WHEREAS, these dedicated professionals and their teams exemplify the importance of leadership, cooperation, creativity, innovation and perseverance; and

WHEREAS, the citizens of Connecticut commend the members of the Southern New England Chapter of the Project Management Institute for their initiative to promote project management, to improve the maturity of project managers in our communities, and for their work to ensure the State's safety and the promotion of economic growth; now

THEREFORE, I, M. Jodi Rell, Governor of the State of Connecticut, in recognition of the new opportunities that arise from effective project management methods, do hereby officially proclaim May 2, 2008, as in the State of Connecticut.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT DAY
