

Why Belong to the Southern New England Chapter of PMI?

- SNEC-PMI actively seeks partnering opportunities with businesses and other PM organizations in the community whose activities benefit SNEC members.
- Employers place a high value on the skill sets that define project management and PM certifications.
- SNEC members network, develop skills and earn Professional Development Units (PDUs) at chapter events, roundtables, meetings and the Annual Conference.
- SNEC's mentor-oriented environment nurtures member skills and interests, and provides ongoing volunteer opportunities.
- SNEC volunteers work with peers in the PM community and in return for time and contributions receive practical tools, education and PDUs.
- The Chapter focuses on membership communications through a variety of channels to ensure that offerings reflect member needs.
- Educational events and special programs provide current project management tools, methodologies and techniques.

The Value of SNEC-PMI Membership:

- Participate in professional development learning opportunities that build expertise and enhance marketability.
- Fine-tune project management skills and hone critical thinking.
- Obtain and maintain PMI certifications to help achieve career goals.
- Attend events, PM training courses and educational seminars at member discount rates.
- Network and exchange knowledge with experienced professionals throughout Southern New England.
- Learn techniques to solve roadblocks that impede success.
- Mentor and be mentored by peer professionals who share a passion for continuing PM education.
- Lead a project or event for an SNEC meeting and turn education into application.

SNEC's mission is to provide resources, professional development, and networking opportunities to enhance Project Management

On Exceeding Member Expectations:

“What I didn’t expect (on joining SNEC) were so many new friendships, unique perspectives, and a genuine excitement in learning, staying current and adding value. Nor did I expect a network of colleagues across Connecticut, our region and the globe. I’ve connected with people in Australia, Slovenia, India, New Zealand, Canada and South America. Through SNEC and PMI, I’ve had the opportunity to learn leading practices, validate my own/our chapter’s approach and become more well-rounded in my thinking and my experiences.”

Carin Salonia, President, SNEC-PMI
